

Yesterday the Duke of York came to town from the seat of the Marquis of Anglesea, Beaudesert, in Staffordshire, and paid a visit to his Majesty.

The Duke of Clarence arrived in town from Bushey yesterday, and also visited the King.

Yesterday Count Munster had an audience of his Majesty.

The Lord Chancellor, the Duke of Wellington, and Count Munster, had audiences of the King on Sunday.

Yesterday Prince Polignac entertained at his house in Portland-place several of the Ministers and Members of the Cabinet. The other Ambassadors were also present.

On Sunday night Mr. Canning left Gloucester-lodge for Portsmouth.

The cause of the recall of Mr. Revenga, the Colombian Envoy to this country, is stated in a letter from Bogota to have been that the Congress considered his name to have been so united with some of the anterior acts of Mr. Mendez and Mr. Zea, that insurmountable obstacles must thence arise to a speedy and honourable adjustment between the Republic and its legitimate creditors.

A person carrying on business as a Dutch merchant has suddenly absconded, carrying off with him bills on Holland and other places to the amount of 10,000l. or 12,000l. The bills were paid for checks on a banker, but which on presentation for payment were dishonoured. Expresses have been sent to prevent the bills being negotiated at the different places on which they are drawn. The name of the individual who has absconded is Mr. Tenbruggenkate.

FRANKFORT, Nov. 19.—Prince Hohenlohe has arrived at Prague, and congratulates himself highly on the great success of his miracles. When he said mass here for the first time, there were 150 carriages at the door of the church.—Ghent Journal, Nov. 29.

Yesterday the Duke of York came to town from the seat of the Marquis of Anglesea, Beaudesert, in Staffordshire.

The Times (London, England), Tuesday, Dec 02, 1823; pg. 2; Issue 12045. (286 words)

Category: News

© Times Newspapers Limited

Gale Document Number:CS34491778